In most areas of the country, state or local law does not require that you purchase a container to surround the casket in the grave. However, MOST cemeteries require that you have such a container so the grave will not sink. Either a burial vault or burial box will satisfy these requirements.

Costs for grave service and tent are often included in the cemetery's opening and closing fee. However, if this is not the case, the funeral home will advance monies for same to the appropriate vault company. We charge for this convenience to the responsible party.
